Effort of the Husband to Get Back the Children Now in Possession of an Erring Wife.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMARA BEE, 1039 P STREET, STREET, LINCOLN, Feb. 15.

The case of Saunders vs Baldwin was tried before Judge Chapman this morning. It was argued and submitted. The plaintiff owns two lots in West Lincoln, and contracted with the defendant to build nim a house thereon, contract price $1,342. The house was built, and according to the plaintiff, paid for, and he came into court asking for ar allowance of $486, on account of bad lumber and bad workmanship and a lien which he had to pay the material man; also as second ground of action, he asks for $545, on account of bad material and workmanship' A number of experts were examined in support of the claim, and the defendant told his side of the story, which was that he had dene an exceedingly good job, and that he had not been paid the full sum of $1,342. Besides that, he had put in extras at the request of the plaintiff; and these extras and the balance on the main contract made a sum of $418, which he asked to be allowed on a mechanic's light that he had filed. He also called experts, who told a story quite contrary to that put in by the plaintiff. Taking the testimony under advisement until 1 o'clock, Judge Chapman decided that this was a suit in which, if both parties had acted more wisely and loved more wisely, why they would have been better off, substantially that they both would be beaten and that they deserved to be beaten. Upon consideration of the testi-mony he considered there were defects in the building, but that the plaintin had ac-cepted it. After full consideration he de-cided to allow the defendant $75 on account of extras, but that each side would have to pay for its own witnesses and costs would be divided between them.

WORSE THAN A MUDDLE.

The Cook vs Cook habeas corpus case was on trial in the county court this afternoon. At this hour a verdict has not been reached It will be remembered by Tur Ber readers It will be remembered by THE BEE readers that Mrs. Cook and one Edward Wright were arrested by Denuty Sheriff Clark nt Kansas City last week on information filed by Joseph Cook, charging them with grand larceny and adultery. Last August Mrs. Cook left her husband August Mrs. Cook left her husband while he was on a visit to friends in Iowa, taking with her about $200 in household effects, since when she has lived with Wright at Aurora and Kansas City. Four children had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Cook, two of which she took with her, while two more left to console and comfort the husband she deserted. To this arrangement Cook demurred. As soon as he learned the be put officers of the law upon their track with the result already indicated. In addition, however, to the complaint of lareeny and adultery, he sent out a writ of habeas corpus and is bent on having back the chil-dren now held by the womantwho legally bears his name. The indications are strong that he will succeed. It is already in proof that the desertion was without cause. The woman and her paramour are practically without money or friends.

NEW INCOMPORATED INDUSTRIES. The Table Rock Clay company filed articles of incorporation to-day. This company seeks to purchase necessary machinery to manu facture brick, tile and other wares, and to operate the same. The company has a sub-beribed capital stock of $4,000. CITY NEWS AND NOTES.
The committees of the house and senate of public lands and buildings returned from their junketing trip to-day. As yet they have given no indication of their findings on the condition of the state builings at Nebraska City and Peru.

John Stofer was arraigned before Judge Stewart to day on the charge of stealing. It seems that he was caught in the act of unlawfully taking car packing, the property of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad company, valued at $5. He entered the plea of not guilty, and will be tried Monday.

Judge Chapman left for Platsmouth to-day, and will remain with his family over Sun-day. Judge Field will hear motions to-morrow. Both courts will engage in active work next week. The law docket will be called Monday morning.

Judge O. P. Mason went to Kansas City to-day to attend a meeting of the Western Packers' association. It seems that Chicago is trying to rob western markets, and to beat the scheme the western association seek to secure a reduction of freight rates and for this end the judge has been retained. The meeting will convene to morrow, and will certainly be an important one. Packing house products are shipped to Chicago 754 cents per 100 pounds cheaper than the animal on hoof, and Cheago pack-ers complain that this enables the Missouri river packers to lay their products down or eastern markets cheaper than Chicago pack ers can, and they seek through the inter-state commission to raise the rates. This would wipe out western packing industries, and so practically destroy this class of western markets.

President Angell, of Ann Arbor University, delivered the Charter Day address at the state university this evening. It was in recoing with his reputation as a scholar and thinker. His reception by the friends of the university has been most cordial. The chanel was crowded to the utmost.

STRIKERS SHUT OUT.

Brotherhood Engineers Not in De mand by the Burlington Company. Although about two months have passed since a settlement of the Burlington strike was effected, not a single engineer of the strikers has as yet been taken back or has been given employment of any kind by the Burlington road. Those who remained in Omaha after the trouble was adjudicated and the Messrs, Doty. have been patiently waiting a summons to return to work, but as yet no such summons has been given by the Burlington. One of the strikers, in speaking of the matter, said: "The Burlington has actually taken a spap judgment on the brotherhood. In the settle ment, we did not realize that the terms of the agreement gave the Burlington such a big scope, but after it is too late we have discovered that, while they are anot taking back any of the old men (strikers) they nevertheless have complied with the agreement. No, sir, and in my opinion I do not think that it intends to take back a single one of the boys, and what can we do? Our honor is recorded in the terms of the agreement to abide by just what is being done. The fact of the matter is that our committee was short-sighted, and did not comprehend the terms of the agreement in their proper light. It should have specified a preference for brotherhood men over unskilled labor, and, in place of promotion of unskilled firemen. Under the present condition of affairs the Burlington has ent condition of affairs, the Burlington has two available sets of men for engineers, the engineers proper and the firemen, to pro-mote in case of a vacancy. Engineers will not go in as firemen, and as a consequence the brotherhood is shut out by the Burling We have filed applications for positions but with this the matter rests.

Inquiry at other points goes to show that the strikers have become disgusted with the state of affairs, and are migrating to other

Railroad Curiosities Captain W. F. Tibbits, one of the oldest men in western railroad circles, called upon Omaha friends to-day. At present he is traveling passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande. He has been in the railway business for over thirty-five years, and states that he handled freight when Chicago was but a mud-hole for Lake Michigan. Mr Tibbjts has perhaps the greatest curlosity shop in the line of annual passes of any rail-road man in the country. To a reporter he displayed his stock of this character. The first pass was as follows, and was given out when what is now the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul system contained just twenty-two miles of road:

Milwaukee & Mississirpi Rallroad—The

conductor will pass W. F. Tibbets, general agent M. C. R. K. until further orders. (Signed) E. H. BRODHEAD, Supt. Aug. 29, 1854. This pass was not the picturesque "annual" of to-day, but was on a small piece of parchiment written by the superintendent in ink. The pass is a dear trophy to the captain who prizes it very highly. About one year ago A. V. H. Carpenter of the Milwaukee road offered him $100 for the "little card" but he declined. He also had in his collection of passes one which was issued in his favor by the Elment S. Niegara road. his favor by the Elmira & Niagara road bearing the date 11854, and the individual that countersigned it died twenty-five years ago. In 1854 the captain was general agent of the Michigan Central, and he states at that time was vested with the power of attorney to sue and be sued. But another curiosity which he also displayed is an annual pass of solid silver coin on the Silverton road—a road thirteen miles in length, plying between Silverton and Ouray, Colo. This road is presided over by Otto Mears, and is said to have no competitor save the proverbial stage coach. Its chief freight traffic is in handling ore, and it is said that President Mears works his road regard-less of existing freight rates, on a basis to correspond with the prices prevailing on ore. Last year he issued annual passes on buckskin. This year he issued solid silver passes and next year he declares that his annuals will be of solid gold. The siver pass held by Missouri Pacific Extension. The Missouri Pacific company is about to construct a line of road across the northeast corner of Indian Territory, connecting Coffeyville with Fort Smith. This road, which is ninety miles in length, will extend from Coffeyville to Wagner, at which point it crosses the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and there connects with the Fort Smith & Little Rock railroad. A Missouri Pacific official stated in coonnection with the new deal: "Yes, the contract for the construction of the road is about to be let. The survey is complete. By this, the Missouri Pacific sys-tem is connected from Coffeyville with the Richmond Terminal system, taking in all the southeastern territory. THE DAY IN THE COURTS.

How Judges and Litigants Attracted Reportorial Attention.

Things were gloomy and solemn and damp about the great indwelling of justice Four sad-looking attorneys vesterday. the collection present when Judges Groff and Hopewell took their seats and Clerk Moores commenced his one-act comedy in advance of the day's business.

It was so dark in the big room that gas lets had to be lighted. Outside, immease clouds of smoke rolled against the windows and then suddenly floated away as though disappointed at not having been given admission o the forum.

The attorneys, witnesses and jurymen were late, a matter that seemed to displease Judge Groff. The latter took occasion to mildly reprimand the county attorney for it. The jurymen were called to their seats and

"Gentlemen, the case now before you for "Gentlemen, the case now before you for trial," said the county attorney, "is one in which Harry Hily is charged with burglary on the night of January 3. He broke into the apartments of Hugh Huckins, 809 Howard street, and attempted to carry away certain goods. Mrs. Huckins went to the theater that night. Her husband was absent all day. About 12 o'clock he came home, and on entering discovered a strange man in and on entering discovered a strange man in the hall, who struck at him. There and then they clinched, struggled and fought, but Huckins, who proved the better man, succeeded in getting his enemy out of doors and turned him over to a police officer. That continued the attorney, "is the r before you. We will show that he entered the house through a window and had broken open a trunk."

The prisoner makes no effort to deny the fact that he was caught in the house, but sets up as a defense that he was very drunk and wholly irresponsible for anything he Mrs. Huckins, a buxom and rather attractive woman, was called. She testified as though she had been on the witness stand before. After describing her place of abode, and stating on the night in question she had and statute on the lightly, she said:

"I went out about 9 o'clock."
"Where did you go to!"
"The Mu-cee."

"No, with a lady friend," The prisoner's attorney tried to tangle Mrs. Huckins on cross-examination, but soon found himself floundering in a hopeless conition.
Mrs. Huckins were a dark blue dress, jaunty bonnet, heavy curling bangs and a fur-lined velvet cloak, made up according to the latest fashion plate style. The jury trying this case is composed of Walter Clark, John Hinsman, J. S. Wright, A. F. Mayne, M. McCarty, George Medlock, Maurice Sullivan, P. Huriey, Frank McGrath, Dan McBride, Dan O'Keeffe and F.

M. King.

No criminal cases will be tried before Judge Groff this morning. The first case next week will be called Tuesday morning, when Dick Grandon, charged with stabbing, with intent to kill, will be put upon trial. The burglary case of the state against Harry Hyley was concluded at 3:30 o'clock and given to the jury, which is still out in its deliberations.

Joe Bell, a man from LeMars, Ia., who was charged with highway robbery, was arraigned before Judge Groff yesterday afternoon. County Attorney Mahoney dismissed the case, as there was not sufficient evidence to prosecute Bell. The complain-ing witness was Nellie Scott, a disreputable

In the Equity Branch.

An action for specific performance in conreying a piece of real estate on Seventeenth street described as the south thirty feet of the west haif of lot thirty-one, and west half of the north one-third of lot thirty-nine, in Hartman's addition, is being heard by Judge Wakely, George B. Tzschuck, plaintiff, and Edgar Zabriski being the parties to the same. Some close and fine points of law are involved. The case was tried before Judge Doane, and since transferred to the equity docket on demurrer by the defendant. The transaction out of which this suit be came a fact, took place in September, 1886.

Judge Wakeley called the docket and heard statements from a number of attorneys regarding their case.

Before Justice Doane. The Goddard-Sweeney jury was instructed by the judge early, and retired. The jury is still out in the Goddard vs

Sweesy case.

After calling the docket and finding nothing ready for trial, this branch of the court took a recess until to-day. The following cases were disposed of: Voss vs Clark, consolidated with another Hajek vs Hascall, dismissed by plaintiff.

The Lowe-city controversy promises to be fraught with considerable interest. General Lowe brings the action for $25,000 damages, which he claims has been done his property by reason of grading Harney, Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, on the three sides of it, and leaving his baronial old residence high and dry on a knob and nearly out of sight.

Before Judge Honewell. His honor was engaged in hearing long ar guments and short testimony in the reciprocal case of Seymour vs Nicholas and Nicholas vs Seymour. The first action was brought to recover on a promissory note. To get even, it is alleged, defendant turned around and sued plantiff for the possession of certain lot of ground in Geiss' addition. He claims that the property was turned over to Seymour as security, instead of an absolute conveyance.

United States Court. The order of Judge Brewer, made at Leavenworth granting an injunction in the case of the Western Union-Union Pacific telegraph controversy, was brought in yesterday by J. M. Woolworth and turned over to the clerk for filing. He also handed in a number of affidavits from former officials of the Western Union, and Dr. Norvin Green, president of the company, which were submitted to the company. These affidavits simply show the course through which consolidations of telegraph orporations have been made to form the

The Postoffice. In the telegraph columns of THE BEE, of resterday appeared a telegram from Washington setting forth that pids for the proposed site of the new postoffice will be received until the 23d of this month. The information comes in a letter addressed to Senator Manderson by W. A. Ferrett, supervising architect of the government at Washington The news was unexpected, and, following so soon after the action taken by the board of trade in the matter, shows, in the estimation of most people who have considered the subject that Senator Manderson has acted in accordance with the wishes there expressed and brought the matter to the immediate attention of the governing authorities. Still further proof of this is evidenced by the fact that the proposals for the site in question are to be opened at so early a date. It is evidence that at least, as far as Senator Manderson and the architectual department of the govern-ment are concerned, the work will be put under way at as early a date as possible. It is stated that the property of fered must be of one of two sizes either 200x250 feet if a corner lot, or if it be not a corner lot it must be 300x290 feet. The latter dimensions have attracted some atten tion because it would be impossible to satisfy them by any square in the city a: present, the largest quadrangle at the present time having, including the width of the alley, but 280 feet. If this determination should be persisted in, the extra ten feet could be secured only by cutting five feet. off each of the two streets or ten feet from one street frontage. It is also noticed that these proposals will be received at the office of the postmaster in this city. This of course will save a great deal of time which would otherwise be consumed in transmission to Washington. The telegram referred to attracted very general attention among the real estate and business men of Omaha, many of whom for some time past have been secretly securing favorable options upon sites advantageous to themselves, or which the owners desire to seil. These sites are numerous, and include a number of valuable blocks in the business part of town.

Some people have spoken in favor of the northwest corner of Sixteenth and Douglas streets, which is, in a large part, the property of the Folsom estate. Others have spoken in favor of what is known in favor of what is known as the Planters house corner at Sixteenth and Dodge. To these, however, objections are made on the ground that the Folsom estate will not have been apportioned according to the manner now in progress prior to April 1, before which time it is thought that the proposed site will have

The block facing on Farnam street and bounded on the east by Eighteenth street, as also one further west on Farnam, have been mentioned.

The tobbing men of the city have been seen and it is estimated that nine out of ten of them are well disposed to the propare well disposed to the property on the southeast corner of Tenth and Farnam streets. This property is practically unincumbered with buildings greater part.

It is claimed that a square within this territory could be purchased for perhaps a little more than one-half of the $400,000 alloted for this purpose, but that after the purchase the property would be valued at double that amount. Some grading would be required in order to adapt these sites to the surrounding locality, and also possibly to the erection of the building, but it is stated that this grading could be done for less than $30,000. The subject to-day has been pretty generally It is claimed that a square within this ter-The subject to-day has been pretty generally canvassed and it is expected that before the 23d the proposals filed with the local postwill be far in excess of the number at first anticipated.

Saratoga Lyceum. The regular meeting of the Saratoga lyceum at the residence of Mrs. Shipman was quite interesting. A recitation by Miss Maggie McKay was a prominent feature of wards of praise. The society paper, "The Reflector," was reeditably edited and read by Miss Jessie Darsey, while Mr. Lesertere's two musical numbers were much enjoyed. After recess the "Samoan Question" came up for discussion and proved very interesting. The prohibition question was laid over for a week when it will come up in the shape

The lyceum also took steps toward build ing a hall in the near future. This will give an opportunity for the establishment of a christian church in the vicinity, for which there is an unmistakable call. To this end Messrs. Lesertere, Jones, Littlefield, Darsey and W. H. McKay were appointed a commit
